

Your Breast screening

appointment

Over the coming weeks, women between the ages of 50 and 70 in this area will receive an invitation for breast screening.

Your invitation will arrive in the post with the details of your appointment. In this age group, regular screening (every three years) is the best way to detect breast cancer at an early stage, when treatment is most likely to be effective.

Women over the age of 70 will not be sent a routine invitation, but are welcome to make an appointment by contacting their local screening centre.

North East Scotland
Breast Screening Centre

Telephone: 01224 550570

